

NYC RESTAURANT NEWS

NYC Snowstorm Prompts Restaurant Closures and Deals 5

Momofuku restaurants are closed for lunch, but others are offering discounts

by Eater Staff | Mar 14, 2017, 9:47am EDT

TWEET

SHARE

PIN

The snowstorm was expected to drop 16 inches of snow on New York on Tuesday, a prediction that has closed schools, libraries, and some subways. Despite the fact that it's been downgraded, plenty of people still aren't working or are working from home, but if you're planning to venture out for food or drink, check first — many restaurants are closing in light of the weather. Those who do venture out might be treated to discounts and specials.

Eater is keeping track of closures and bar and restaurant deals for today. Let us know if you see of one; we'll be updating the list throughout the day. UberEats and Postmates have disabled delivery today, but for the love of all things good, don't be a jerk if you actually decide to order delivery.

Run a restaurant or bar? Tweet your snow-day status with the hashtag #OpenInNYC:

Business as Usual

- All of the Il Buco restaurants are staying open, including Il Buco Alimentari and Il Buco.
- Lebanese bakery Manousheh will be open until at least 7:00 p.m. today.
- Hill Country is open for business as usual (just without delivery).
- All of Mario Batali's New York restaurants will be open for dinner.
- Quality Branded restaurants Quality Meats, Quality Italian, Smith & Wollensky, Maloney & Porcelli will all be open for lunch and dinner, Park Avenue Winter will be open for dinner.
- Most of the Eli's restaurants on the Upper East Side are open for business as usual, including Eli's Night Shift, Eli's Table, Eli's Bar, E.A.T., Eli's Essentials, Eli's Market, and Eli's Bread & Pastry.